leading the way to prevention
For the past four years, ICADV has been forging a path in the prevention of domestic and sexual violence. The prevention strategies developed by the ICADV team have been published in national documents and presented at national conferences. These strategies don't look like what has been done before - initiatives that promote safe, stable, nurturing relationships and environments, messages of hope and the small moments that make big differences in our communities, and advocacy that focuses on the wellbeing of all people and structural connectedness.

As we continue to go where there is no path, we know that the bold, new actions we develop are what is needed to eliminate domestic violence once and for all. We hope you will come with us on the journey, as ICADV steps onto the national stage of prevention leadership.

Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote, "Do not follow where the path may lead. Go instead where there is no path and leave a trail."

primary prevention

- ICADV's Small Moments Campaign promotes safe, stable, and nurturing conditions across Indiana and nationally. Our televised public service announcement, website, and print materials reached over 500,000 Hoosiers.
ICADV’s innovative strategies have led to recognition as a national leader in the movement to prevent domestic violence. In the past year, members of the prevention team have shared project results and initiatives through the following conferences and publications:
ICADV also engages with community partners, working with the Indiana Migrant and Seasonal Farmworker Coalition, IPATH Victim Service, IPATH Labor Trafficking Committee, and Coalition of Our Immigrant Neighbors.

In January 2017, ICADV updated the mandatory webinar training for participating attorneys to reflect recent changes in Indiana law, Indiana's trial court rules regarding parenting time, and the mediation of domestic violence cases.

Survivors assisted by the Immigrant Legal Project: 24

Attorneys in the Satellite Attorney Program: 78

Families assisted: 141
34th Annual Fall Conference

247 professionals in the domestic violence services and prevention field attended workshops to improve their skills and competency, enabling them to more effectively work with survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault, teen dating violence, stalking, and/or human trafficking.

Victim Service Academy

ICADV partnered with Domestic Violence Network and the Indiana Coalition to End Sexual Assault to create a basic victim service academy. Over the course of two years, this project will host three basic academies, two advanced trainings, and nine regional follow-up trainings which will expand on identified topics of particular interest to advocates.
In partnership with DeafALIVE, ICADV created and produced three short American Sign Language videos. These videos educate members of the Deaf and hard of hearing community on the ways in which survivors experience difficulty leaving their abusers.

ICADV also partnered with the Indiana School for the Deaf to improve and promote a campus-wide safe school environment. The project aims to ensure that services and programs are aligned with ISD's overall goal of providing a safe environment for all that will allow students to thrive educationally, socially, and emotionally across their educational lifespan.
public policy

Promising Policy Changes...
HEA 1516: Creates a state-level domestic violence fatality review team.
SEA 323: Grants order of protection to animals. Also allows transfer of wireless telephone numbers and accounts as part of a final order for protection after a hearing.
HEA 1318: Allows innocent co-insureds to claim relief when the intentional act of the other person results in the destruction of the insured property.

Unfortunately...
An extensive effort was made by ICADV to defeat HEA 1071. Before this bill, an individual with an active order of protection against them could be barred from procuring a license to carry a handgun. This legislation creates a loophole for those individuals to have access to firearms. ICADV is not supportive of any legislation that could potentially introduce more firearms into domestic violence situations.
To support program directors, ICADV offered a bi-monthly Director's Training Institute, to help directors develop policies and procedures, and increase their knowledge of grant writing and management and nonprofit finance.

In addition, ICADV certified three new Batterers' Intervention Programs and partnered with the Indiana Criminal Justice Institute to conduct 18 Peer Reviews.

This year, ICADV staff fielded over 1,100 requests for technical assistance from over 700 member programs, partners, and allies.
On One Day in Indiana...

- 1,197 domestic violence victims found refuge in emergency shelters or transitional housing.
- 572 adults and children received non-residential assistance and services.
- 512 calls answered by local and state hotline staff, averaging 21 hotline calls every hour.
- 104 survivors turned away from shelters because there were not enough beds.
